MEET JORDAN A.

Looking back at my time at Nick's Place in 2012, I can now say was the most significant part of my recovery journey. The support, lessons, and knowledge I took with me helped build the foundation of who I am today. Every challenge faced became a lesson, a stepping stone to something better. The staff, fellow residents, and alumni have left a lasting impact through shared stories, fears, and victories, and those relationships, even if brief, taught me about empathy, accountability, and the power of community. There's a real bond in that kind of shared experience, and it reminded me that no matter how isolated I felt, I wasn't alone.

Since leaving, I have been fortunate enough to start a family, return to school, start a career, purchase a home, and be a part of the recovery community in my area. My wife Amanda and I welcomed our son Beckett in August of 2024. We currently live in the Olney area, where I work as the ICU Charge RN/Rapid Response RN. I recently applied to Anesthesia school and will hopefully start that journey sometime in 2026. My newest role in life is currently Dad, which would not be possible without Nick's place taking the chance on me all those years ago.
